

Bloomfield Collegiate News

Friday
29th March 2019

Dates for your Diary

Wednesday 3rd April

Years 8 & 9 Parent Consultations (1pm-3.20pm)

School closes at 12.15pm

Monday 8th-Friday 12th April

ReadOn week

Friday 12th April

School closes early for half-term – more details to follow next week

Music Department news

This year our music department was central to the resounding success of the musical “Joseph”. However, a considerable amount of class time was lost in preparation for this. Further, Easter is very late and teachers will hardly see their classes after the break. With these reasons in mind, it has been agreed to postpone this year’s Spring Concert until early in the new academic year. This will allow pupils and teachers to remain in class and still ensure the usual excellent performance, albeit at a different time of year. We hope that parents and pupils will understand that the quality of education and preparation for external examinations must be paramount, and we look forward to our concert in the Autumn.

Lost Property

A teacher’s rose-gold coloured iPhone went missing today. It was last seen on her desk in the Curran building before breaktime. Please ask your daughter/ward if she noticed anything or knows if someone has lifted a phone by mistake.

ReadOn

Our ReadOn week for pupils in years 8-10 begins on Monday 8th April with a presentation assembly. ReadOn is our annual sponsorship event for the Cancer Fund for Children which does a fantastic job in supporting local children and their families who are sadly affected by cancer. Pupils are sponsored by family and friends to read during the week and all money raised provides help such as individual support sessions; financial grants and residential group support. Please do encourage your child this week as they read and get sponsored, knowing that as they boost their own literacy they are also providing invaluable support to a very worthwhile local cause – details of the charity’s work can be found at cancerfundforchildren.com. If it’s possible for you to do so, please gift aid your sponsorship to make your donation go even further.

Sports News

Well done to our marvellous Year 8 hockey team, who finished second in the Lynsey Waller Memorial hockey tournament at Carrick Grammar School earlier today. This is a very promising group of players, and they have performed brilliantly in matches throughout the season.

